

The Saint Stephen's College Student Charter

You have a right to use the facilities provided by the College. It is your school!

You have a responsibility to look after the College environment so that others may enjoy it now and in the future.

You have a right to learn. You should be able to finish each day with a sense of achievement.

You have a responsibility to allow others to learn.

You have a right to participate.

You have a responsibility to fulfil your commitments and to encourage others to participate regardless of their ability.

The support you give each other is more important than the result of the match.

You have a right to belong. You are Saint Stephen's College!

You have a responsibility to ensure that others feel welcome in every class, every activity and every group.

You have a right to enjoy yourself. School should be fun!

You have a responsibility to laugh 'with', not 'at' others.

You have a right to express your opinion. Your greatest liberty is liberty of the mind.

You have a responsibility to be well informed and sensitive to the feelings of other people.

You have a right to feel special and to develop your own unique character.

You have a responsibility to respect and ultimately to celebrate the difference in other well-intentioned people.

You have a right to be inspired by your own vision. Greatness is within you!

You have a responsibility to recognise and nurture the greatness in others.

You have a right to be proud of what you and others have achieved.

You have a responsibility to leave a legacy so that future generations can also feel proud.

You have a right to reject these responsibilities and the rights attached to them.

You have a responsibility to do so alone.
